Coleman Band Invited To Calgary Stampede

Will Endeavor To Raise Funds
By Tag For Which A Concert
Will Be Held on Main Street
Saturday Evening.

Coleman citizens' band received an invitation from Calgary Stampede officials to take part in the big parade which will feature the opening of the world famous stampede on Monday, July 7.

The band is desirous of accepting this invitation and to do so they will sponsor a tag day on Saturday, June 21. In return the public will be treated to an open-air concert on main street on Saturday evening, thirty members taking part under the direction of bandmaster Fred Beddington.

Should the tag day be a success and sufficient funds are raised the mine management has promised the band members the use of mine lamps, which against the background of the mine clothes in which the members will be dressed will give the band a unique appearance. The band thanks the mine management for this courteous offer.

The band will also supply music at the Kimberley-Pucksters baseball game Sunday afternoon, June 22, at 2:30 o'clock.

Thanks is expressed to the Legion Cigarette Fund for cancelling its canvass on Saturday.

Notice

All parents intending to start sending their children to school at the start of the Fall term are asked to advise Mrs. M. Clifford at Central school on Wednesday, June 25, between the hours of 3 and 4. They must bring with them the child's birth or baptismal certificate to show proof that the child will reach the age of six years before December 31, 1941.

Fire Ranger Warns Against Carelessness

Frequenters of Forest Areas
Asked to Extinguish Thoroughly
All Camp Fires.

Each year Fire Ranger Harry Boulton issues a warning to all frequenters of the forest areas to be careful with fire. He again issues the warning, this time with more earnestness than before. The hot summer days are upon us which will result in the forests becoming tinder-dry with the fire hazard lurking everywhere. The spark of a match or cigarette, lightning, a camp fire not properly extinguished, all are common causes of fires which create enormous expense and the loss of valuable timber which takes years to replace.

All citizens have recently heard Dominion government officials broadcast on the necessity of the people of Canada using the utmost care in preventing forest fires and so conserve the timber for Canada's war effort. Fire Ranger Harry Boulton re-echoes their words: "Be careful of fire... conserve Canada's timber."

In this part of the country many valuable timber stands are located. Citizens can do much towards Canada's war effort by being ever on the alert to avoid carelessness with fire while in the forests.

$100,000 Subscribed Up To Wednesday Evening; Now Endeavor to Double Quota

$100,050 had been subscribed after the Wednesday evening canvass. The campaign still has three days to go, closing Saturday, June 21. Canvassers will be on the job each evening. "Double our quota" is the new battle cry of the local committee and this means an effort will be made to raise $106,000.

Creeping steadily upwards the mercury in the Victory Loan thermometer had reached the grand total of $99,100 up to Tuesday evening. During the past week the bulk of subscriptions have been between $50 and $100 and it is these that continue to keep the mercury rising.

It is now the ambition of the local officials to double the quota. The Coleman quota was $53,000 and only the small sum of $7,000 remained to be raised to double the quota at $106,000. Only three days remain before the books are closed and it is the duty of every citizen who is capable of purchasing a bond to do so.

Three banners are now flying below the large Torch of Victory flag, showing how the local campaign is progressing. One banner is received when the unit reaches its quota and further banners are received when the unit exceeds its quota by 25%, 50% and so on.

It is both interesting and gratifying to note that some persons who had not previously invested in a Victory Bond have at last decided to purchase, and so "do their bit." As one party remarked to a canvasser, "We fully realize that practically everyone is doing their utmost to purchase a bond and so we sat down one evening and figured out how we too could purchase a bond." The result was that this party now has invested in a bond. Many others could purchase a $50 or $100 bond if they too would only sit down and budget their income and so purchase a bond. It is not as if they were giving their money away. It is the safest investment in the Dominion of Canada and the money will come back to them with interest. If it is possible at all to buy a bond do so—don't sit back and let the other fellow fight your battles—get in there and fight, through the loan of your money.

Persons who have not been canvassed and who wish to invest in a Victory bond are asked to come to the Victory Loan headquarters in the Big Corner Store on main street. Purchases may also be made at the bank.

Victory Loan Quota May Be Reached Friday

Ottawa—Canada 1941 Victory Loan should reach its minimum objective by Friday if the present rate of progress is maintained. The total up to Tuesday night stood at $338,773,000 from 603,088 individual subscribers.

National headquarters will not be satisfied with the normal objective. Canada's torch of Freedom must go to Winston Churchill but let us make it handsomely. G. W. Spinney, national executive chairman, said in a message to his field forces.

Pucksters Maintain Winning Pace; Fourth Win

Defeat Michel in Ten Innings;
Fred Slugg Hit to Bring Home
Winning Run.

"Four up and four down." That is the way Pucksters are treating the opposition in the Crow ball league up to the present time. They have travelled to Kimberley, Michel, and Blairmore, and won all their contests. On Sunday, playing their first home game, Pucksters were forced into ten innings before getting an 8-7 decision over Michel Buffaloes.

Fred Slugg played a hero's role by slamming out a hit in the tenth inning to bring home the winning run. Fred's brother, Jimmy, had only a moment before that been given a walk forcing the tying run across the plate Tom Krall having previously filled the bases.

Pucksters opened in fine style, Molineau striking out two of the four men to face him in the first inning. Wally Krall took the mound for Michel and was bombarded from all angles right from the start. He was sent to the showers when he allowed four runs, his last three pitches being hit for three two-base hits. Little was sent in and he allowed another run before retiring the side.

Michel got into the game in the third when he scored one run. In the fourth inning Pucksters fell away and made four errors, Molineau allowed three hits and walked two men by hitting them on wild pitches. Michel scored five runs to take the lead. Pucksters evened the game with a run in the fifth and both teams went into the ninth inning all square at 6-6. No runs were scored in the ninth, Tom Krall had relieved Little in the seventh and was pitching nice ball. In the tenth inning Molineau allowed a hit and another was allowed on base when hit by a pitched ball. Pucksters committed an error and coupled with brilliant play on Michel's part a run was scored to send Michel in front 7-6. Pucksters came to bat and a hit was made on the first pitched ball. Krall began to weaken and Pucksters took advantage to fill the bases.

Jimmy Slugg was given a walk on four balls forcing the tying run across the plate. Fred Slugg came to bat with two men out and took a healthy slice at the ball to hit sharply past the infield to score the winning run. Batteries: W. Krall, Little, T. Krall, Weaver, Molineau and Elck.

Art Barnsley Won Crows Nest Golf Championship

Jim Kellock Won Out In Low Net and Low Gross in Medal Play Monday.

Art Barnsley, of Lethbridge, defeated his club mate Ray Napper three and two on Monday at the Crows Nest Golf and Country club to win the Crows Nest Pass Golf tournament.

The entry was the lowest on record, only thirty being entered in the men's championship flight. Jim Kellock was the only Coleman player to win out in any of the competitions. He won the low net and low gross scores in the medal play.

H. C. McBurney managed to reach the semi-finals of the senior men's competition but fell away before the smooth stroking of Lance Morgan. In the final Mr. Morgan was defeated by his fellow clubmate, G. A. Passmore.

Elks Lodge Give Victory Loan A Big Boost

Buy $500 Bond For Lodge;
$100 Bond for Carnival Prize;
Percentage of Carnival Funds
To Be Donated to Lord
Mayor's Fund.

Coleman Elks Lodge is one lodge in particular that is bending every effort to aid in Canada's war effort. This week the members passed unanimously the motion to purchase a $500 Victory Loan bond. In addition a $100 bond was purchased as a major prize in the Elks carnival. Not satisfied with that it will donate 25% of the carnival proceeds to the Lord Mayor's Fund for the relief of air raid victims if permitted.

When the War Savings campaign was launched the lodge bought $500 worth of savings certificates. Last year they donated to Coleman branch of the Canadian Red Cross $125. All this has been given to further Canada's war effort, in addition to numerous charitable acts which receive little or no publicity. The lodge has a membership of 65. Ten are honorary members, and their fees are taken care of by the lodge. The members are truly worthy of credit for their patriotism and enterprise.

Other lodges are also doing their part. The Massena lodge is contributing a provincial fund. The Eastern Star also is helping in the purchase of a bomber.

Solved The Problem

Manitoba Beekeeper Raises Bee Plants To Save Clover Crop

Another interesting floral sideline has cropped up lately in the outside sown annual flowers that are known to be honey or bee plants. Finding his clover crop attacked by insects, one of the leading Manitoba beekeepers, N. Pankin, of Dufrost, Manitoba, set about to see if he could not counteract the lack of honey flow caused by the destruction of his clover, through the use of different annual flowers that are known to supply nectar and pollen. Mr. Pankin has had such a satisfactory response that he now has over two acres each season in outside sown Annual "Bee Plants," flowers such as Mignonette, Larkspur, Borage and Cleome. He finds that some annual types such as the tall growing Cleome can be sown with an ordinary grain drill, and last year on his farm a half acre of this flower was well worth seeing, from both the human and bee standpoint.

Approaches The Maximum

New Plate Glass Is Clearer Than Any Produced Before

Glass technology has given us in recent years flame-proof, shock-proof, and safety glass, and glass sandwiches that add greatly in the safety of automobile windows. Now a Pittsburgh company has developed water-white plate glass which transmits far more light than any plate glass hitherto made. It is especially adaptable for multiple glazing, as in refrigerators cases, and may be used also for double glazing in connection with air-conditioning and insulating installations.

The new glass is so clear that one can look through a 24-inch thick of it, edgewise, and see an object almost as clearly and distinctly as though the glass were not there. Its total transmission of visible light is 91 per cent, a figure that approaches the maximum possible. — Scientific American.

Some New Products

Australian Wool Board Develops Fabrics For Fine Hosiery

The manufacture of two new woolen products will be undertaken this year by the Australian Wool Board. These are fine wool stockings and uncut moquettes for the upholstery of furniture and motorcars. Samples of woolen stockings ranging from fine sheer weaves to heavier weights for sports and country wear have been received from Great Britain. Leading hosiery manufacturers were given an opportunity of inspecting this range, and as a result one firm proposes to manufacture a limited quantity of these stockings.

For some time new woolen furnishing fabrics, including both tweed moquettes, have been used with great success in England and America, and their durability is unquestioned. In addition arrangements have been made to obtain samples of attractive printed wool furnishing fabrics which have just been completed in London.

Woolen upholstery, floor coverings, and novelties decorated the ideal Australian home which was part of the exhibit arranged at Sydney Royal Show.

Evenings and nightgowns, morning frocks, day frocks, afternoon and cocktail frocks, dinner gowns, dance gowns, and coats of all descriptions indicated the advantage of wool for general wear.

Speaking Of The Weather

T. E. Lawrence was standing one morning in the Continental Hotel, Cairo, when a tourist, anxious to be seen conversing with the uncrowned King of Arabia, moved toward him. The temperature was high and the tourist was fanning herself with a newspaper as she interrupted him. "Just think, Colonel Lawrence, 92° Ninety-two!"

With a forced smile he replied, "Many happy returns of the day."

VICTORY LOAN 1941

Devastation In Germany

Nazi Camouflage Buildings To Prevent Damage From R.A.F. Bombs

The Germans have adopted elaborate methods of camouflage in an endeavor to catch the devastating Royal Air Force raids on Hamburg, Hanover and Bremen.

A traveller who visited these three cities recently told a representative of the London Daily Telegraph on the German frontier that railway stations at Hanover and Hamburg and other equally extensive targets were completely hidden under a canopy of timber rising on a gentle ramp to form an artificial mound.

This was covered with grass and rows of shrubs. The effect from the air being that of a road running through fields over the crest of a hill.

The Germans also attempted to disguise landmarks by which they believe R.A.F. pilots check their course near Hamburg. The shape of Alster lake has been altered by covering parts of it with boards supported on piles. Another lake near Hamburg has been camouflaged by the same method.

After eight or nine oil storage tanks had been blown up near Hanover, and production stopped for several weeks, the Nazis covered the remaining tanks by erecting dummy houses on top.

Local residents told the informant millions of marks had been spent in camouflaging landmarks.

Describing devastation in the three cities, he said Hanover suffered great damage. Whole streets in the industrial districts have been "blown completely flat."

One of the most important targets which has been hit several times is the Continental rubber works, which makes rubber boots for the German air force and a kind of rubber casing which the Germans are now using to cover parts of submarines. As a result of one R.A.F. attack the factory had to be closed down for 10 days.

During another recent raid a Hanover tram depot received a direct hit and was burned out, 145 trams and buses being destroyed. Transport in the city now is chaotic.

At Hamburg the traveller was impressed by the tremendous devastation in the port area. Piles of debris and gutted buildings could be seen everywhere, and much damage had been done to port installations.

In the free port of Bremen the traveller saw the skeleton of grain and coffee warehouses. Goods now are being stored in empty villas to distribute the risk.

The informant was an eye-witness to all this damage but he also received reports of the bombing of various other places. One was that the submarine dockyard at Wilhelmshaven now was useless.

In Kiel it was estimated 15,000 persons have been bombed out of houses in the dock area. From these two towns and Emden crowded trains leave daily carrying people to the Harz mountains and Turingia.

Anti-Submarine Device

New Invention Would Drive Enemy U-Boats From The Seas

Charles F. Kettering, a leading American inventor, predicted German submarines would be driven from the seas by development of a device to catch them on the surface at night. The engineering genius who gave the automobile industry the self starter, expressed a belief that the anti-submarine device would be completed and in operation "within a reasonable time."

"We have been working with the navy for six years," he said, referring to General Motors research division which he heads. "It's not going to be too hard to beat the subs."

Kettering also said the problem of interception of night bombers "is being licked now" in Britain by detection devices "now in production."

Kettering told a group of returned American war correspondents that one of the big advantages the United States navy has over other navies is in the engine being installed in new submarines.

"With that engine, our subs can go 17 to 20 knots and more on the surface—fast enough to keep up with the fleet," he said. "The subs other countries have go along at 10 or 11."

NEW SLEEVELESS DRESS

By Anne Adams

"Summer sleevelessness is the thing," declares Fashion. It's an idea liked for its cool comfort and its adaptability to the new rounded shoulder silhouette. Anne Adams has used the sleeveless theme most effectively in Pattern 4651, with extended shoulders that just cover the tops of your arms to give perfect comfort without looking too exposed. This dainty square-necked dress is wonderfully simple to make, as you can see by the dress-making diagram. The front is all one piece, with slashes high above the slim waistline to hold up the bodice softly. The back of the dress is in easy princess style—there's a pretty buckled belt, too. You might use lace edging and add bows for gaiety.

Pattern 4651 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric and 2 1/2 yards lace edging. Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

CHAPTER XI.

Devona would have died immediately to the safety of her own room. But, as Vana closed the door behind her again, Dale caught her hand.

"It may be an uncivilized hour to be up hunting burglars, but it's a swell hour for a ride out on the desert to watch a sunrise," he whispered. "Game?"

Perfectly aware that Vana probably stood just inside that closed door waiting to be obeyed, Devona hesitated.

"Please. You've no idea how lovely it is." The blue eyes pleaded.

And only when she nodded her acceptance did he release her, stand grinning as she raced down the hall, closed her own door with a smart little click.

Half an hour later, Dale was waiting for her at the stables. The eastern sky was just beginning to blush a lovely pink and except for the occasional clomp of a horse's hoof in the stalls, the world seemed wrapped in a blanket of deep silence.

Devona felt almost as if she should whisper her greeting in the eerie half-light of morning.

"Did I keep you waiting?" Dale swung down off the corral fence where he'd been perched, shook his head. "Not long. And—" his grin teased again—"it was worth it."

"Maybe we'd better leave a note," she suggested.

"I did." Dale held out his hand. "Up you go."

Dawn broke just as they rode out of the canyon, came onto a level mesa. The unbelievably blue sky broke into a brilliant prism spreading fingers of green and soft purple and orange across the sky like giant scarabrights.

For a moment they just watched the lovely miracle, feasting their eyes, breathing deep of the crisp, dry air. Even their sleek, well-groomed mounts stood quietly for a moment. And Devona had the strange sensation of their being alone in some infinite, remote world—just she and Dale together. If only it could always be like this.

Then the rim of the sun pushed over the horizon and it was morning.

"Glorious, wasn't it?" she murmured.

Dale didn't answer and when she looked to see why, she found his eyes on her, grave, almost tender. And for a fleeting second she felt that he, too, must have shared her emotion of the moment before. Because something had drawn them closer. She felt it even as her nervous mount jerked her away from him, down the trail at a smart gallop.

When Dale caught up with her, the gravity was gone, replaced by that precious, crinkly-eyed smile she'd come to adore.

"You ride like a born circus performer," he said as they cantered along. "Done lots of it?"

She nodded. "Yes. Some for pleasure. A lot for necessity. You see, many of the camps Dad had to live in were miles from transportation. It was go with him by horse or mule back, or stay behind in some God-forsaken little village by myself. So, of course, I usually went along."

"Pretty dangerous, wasn't it?" "Sometimes. But it was fun, too. And, of course, I'd never let me go if the danger was too great."

"I think I'd have liked that Dad of yours." Dale said suddenly.

She smiled, nodded. "I know you would." And Dad, she added silently, would have liked this tall, square-shouldered young man, too.

Then, as the trail narrowed, curved up onto a rocky plateau, Devona rode ahead. Responding to the free rein, her horse plunged faster. Even as the dry air whipped her face, Devona felt easily into the rhythm of the horse's step, gloried in this head-long rush across the open desert.

Suddenly, as she took a little gully at a flying gallop, the fleet-footed mare shied violently, reared, snorting, until she almost unseated her rider. In the same instant, Devona saw why. A huge snake—slipping across the hot, sandy trail, coiling rapidly now in angry, hissing menace to both horse and rider. The deadly rattlesnake!

Cold with horror, Devona felt the frightened mare jerk the reins out of her hands, take the bit in her teeth as she whirled. Devona clung to the saddle as the horse dashed headlong down a steep canyon, took a dry creek bed in a single, terrifying leap, scrambled up to the hard flat mesa beyond.

Behind her, she heard the pounding hooves of Dale's horse in pursuit. Her own horse, terrified and challenged now by the steady thunder of those hoof-beats behind, raced on faster. Surely she'd exhaust herself soon. Devona prayed and clung frantically to the saddle horn.

The wind whipped tears into her eyes blindingly, sent strands of the mare's flying mane to smack smartly against her cheeks. Her aching hands threatened to loose their hold any moment.

Then, horrified, she saw that only a few hundred yards ahead, the mesa dropped off again, precipitately! Probably, her imagination pictured horribly, into a hot, rocky canyon where at this break-neck speed, even a sure-footed thoroughbred like this on would crash to certain death.

As in some horrible nightmare, she watched the mesa's rim draw closer—closer! Twice she tried to reach the reins flying wildly under the mare's foam-flecked head. And twice nearly slipped from the saddle.

"Don't try it!" Faintly from behind, she heard Dale's shouted command. "Just hang on."

For seconds that might better have been measured by eternities, they pounded on, pursuer and pursued. Until the rim of the canyon seemed only another step, a chasm, yawning right at her feet.

Devona shut her eyes, steeled herself for the shattering fall, felt her horse rear, plunge to one side, gather speed as if for a mighty leap. Faint, her breath forced back into her throat by the force of the wind, she clung more through reflex action than conscious direction of her aching muscles.

Then, suddenly, the horse was slowing its terrific speed. Rocking in the big Western saddle, she felt herself slipping dangerously, tried to regain her balance. But this time, too-tense muscles refused to obey. Another moment and she'd have fallen under those sharp, murderous hooves. The same moment that she felt a strong arm around her, a quick sharp pain in her side as she was jerked bodily out of the saddle.

She looked up into Dale's white face, tried to speak. Instead, she slipped off into a black cloud of unconsciousness.

When she opened her eyes again she saw that the tenderness in his voice was matched by that in his eyes. She stared into their blue depths, hypnotized by the emotion she saw unmasking there, not daring to breathe, to break the spell of—"

"I love you, Devona. Love you. Love you, darling!" he was saying now, holding her so close she felt his heart beating a tom-tom against her own breast. "I don't want to lose you—ever."

For an instant, their eyes met, clung hungrily. Then Devona heard her own voice answering. "And I love you, too, Dale."

With that he swept her close, his lips crushing her in a kiss that grew quickly from a tender caress to stormy passionate embrace. Her arms, as if of their own accord, slipped around his neck with answering pressure.

"That's pretty—wonderful," Dale murmured a moment later, his voice tones deeper with this new emotion. "I'd never dreamed it could be like this."

Devona ran the tip of her finger, slowly, caressingly, down the bridge of his fine, straight nose. "I did. I've been dreaming about it always—ever since I saw you. I knew it had to be—love."

He kissed her again. "You sweetheart. I guess women do know more about love. I'd begun to think there was no such thing, really."

"And—now?" "Now I know it's"—he grinned, hugged her close, "its what you would, the world go round! I've been wondering why the old place seemed different lately. Now, I know it's because of a little black-haired girl I found sitting on a trunk down at the San Pedro wharf. Funny that, one small package like this could make so much difference."

Smiling, Devona teased him. "And wasn't it only last night you said love only happened in story-books?"

"Did I?" He kissed the tip of her nose. "What a sap. Or else this is just a fairy tale and pretty soon somebody will come along and break the spell."

Quickly, Devona shook her head. "Oh, no."

With sudden seriousness he searched her face, almost anxiously. "Darling, don't let anything, any one ever break this spell, will you?"

"Of course not, darling."

"You do love me. You're sure?" "Terribly, wonderfully sure, Dale."

"And nothing will ever change your mind?"

She smiled, drew his face down close to hers. "Of course not, darling." And sealed that with her kiss.

But even as she tried to reassure his strange anxiety, a premonition stalked into her own mind, trailing tatters of old fears. Something so perfect as this—so precious, so flawless. They had to keep it lovely as it was this moment between them forever. Nothing, nothing must ever break the spell of their happiness. If only she could be sure.

Model Of House-Fly

Shows Exactly What This Menace To Man Looks Like

What does a house-fly look like, say, to a germ? Mr. T. B. Kurata of the Royal Ontario Museum has worked this out. With painstaking dexterity he has produced a model of the house-fly on a scale 187,200 times the original volume. The model shows the spines and hairs which cover the body like porcupine quills, the large globular eyes made up of thousands of small eyes; and the sucking mouth which is extended to show its parts. Another similar model displays the fly's brain, heart and stomach. One small part of a fly's foot has been enlarged 200,700,000 times to show small bacteria clinging to the claws. A culture dish shows the growth of bacteria introduced by the house-fly and a dead mouse is displayed as the nursery of the young flies or maggots. To properly impress the Museum visitor with the unpleasant contact of flies and man a giant house-fly is seen secreting saliva and faeces upon the icing of a piece of cake. Altogether, the common fly is exposed as an unwholesome creature to have about the house.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Wall Was Repaired

Bismark's Fate Closed Breach Made

When The Hood Went Down. We believe most Americans felt their country and their continent less safe when the great British battle cruiser, the Hood went down. They felt as if a breach had been made in a protective wall.

We believe the same majority of Americans felt vastly more safe when the enormous Bismark went down under British gun and torpedo-fire. They felt as if the wall had been repaired.

We give our sympathy to those isolationists of the Lindbergh stripe who are condemned to believe that it makes no difference whether the Hood went down or whether the Bismark followed.

These men are divorced from our world, the world of reality. The rest of us will lift our hats to our English protectors for a dazzling sea epic, a thrilling demonstration of pluck and skill in the deepest moment of adversity.—New York Post.

A Remarkable Story

A circular noscope from a German bomb came through the window of a London apartment, spinning so fast that it circled the four walls of the room before it stopped. In one corner it crossed the glass doors of a built-in china closet without breaking them.

Accidents On Farm

According to insurance companies farming is a dangerous occupation. Outside of accidents occurring in the home the herd bull causes the highest percentage of fatal accidents on the farm.

The final test of eating technique is a chicken wing. If you can get any meat off without picking it up, you're an expert.

There is about a pound of salt in every gallon of sea water.

Two Kinds Of Fees

And Specialist Gave Millionaire His Choice Of Payment

One of New York's foremost physicians reveals the story of the call he received, some years ago, to go to Durham, N.C., and treat Doris Duke's father. He spent a day and a half at the Duke estate, and then prescribed a change of diet. At the end of the month, he submitted his bill—$14,000. Duke became enraged at this, called his own doctor, and said: "That New York specialist wants me to pay him $14,000 just for changing my bread to toast. It's outrageous. Speak to him." The doctor phoned the eminent specialist, at the dispensary where he was treating a group of patients without fee. "I have two kinds of fees," the specialist explained. "The first is $14,000; the second is nothing. Mr. Duke can have his choice, of which fee he wants to pay me." Mr. Duke sent his cheque for $14,000.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

LIBERTY

The liberty of a people consists in being governed by law which they have made themselves. Under whatsoever form it be of government.—Coxley.

The history of liberty is a history of limitations of governmental power, not the increase of it.—Woodrow Wilson.

The world has never had a good definition of the word liberty.—Abraham Lincoln.

Truth crushed to earth springs spontaneously upward, and whispers to the breeze man's inalienable birthright: Liberty.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Personal liberty is the paramount essential to human dignity and human happiness.—Bulwer-Lytton.

The only liberty I mean, is a liberty connected with order; that not only exists along with order and virtue, but which cannot exist at all without them.—Edmund Burke.

Town Named After Dog

And Residents Of Dingo, Australia, Do Not Like It

Residents of Dingo, Australia, are tired of living in a town named after a dog. Dingo is the name of a breed of Australian dog and when mail arrives addressed to John Jones, Dingo, it is too much like being called a name, they say. People of Ceratodus, named after a lung fish, and those of Green Pigeon don't seem to resent their town names so much.

The Lost Squad

"When I was a boy," said the sergeant to a squad of recruits, "I had some wooden soldiers, which I lost. My mother said: 'Oh, you'll soon find them.' And believe me, you lopsided muton-headed gang, that day has come."

What a pity it is that a person can't dispose of his experience for as much as it cost him.

When a man is too proud to beg and too honest to steal he hunts up a grocer who is willing to trust him.

The Duke Of Connaught

Has Been A British Field Marshal For 39 Years

If the Duke of Connaught lives to celebrate three more birthdays he will have broken a British army record—that of having been a field marshal for a longer period than the Duke of Cambridge. The former Governor-General of Canada recently celebrated his 91st birthday. He is a wonderful old man, whose only evidence of increasing years is deafness. When he was born in Buckingham Palace, so long ago, he was described by the Duke of Wellington, who later became his godfather, as "a very fine boy." The Iron Duke would not have ventured to predict that his godson would live to have his name in the army list for 72 years. He was gazetted as a lieutenant in the Royal Engineers in June, 1868, transferred in November to the Royal Artillery, and finally to the Rifle Brigade in August, 1869. He has been attached to the brigade ever since. He reached the highest rank in the army, that of field marshal, in June, 1902. He is thus approaching the record of the Duke of Cambridge, who was a field marshal for 42 years.

Steer Clear Of Award

Officers Do Not Want Order Of The Bowler Hat

Somewhere in England officers at headquarters of a 1st Division infantry brigade from western Canada are steering clear of the "Order of the Bowler Hat." As unique an order as any in existence, the O.B.H. is "awarded for outstanding overights, blunders or such other causes" as the brigadier, a former University of Saskatchewan professor, may designate.

It was instituted by the brigadier early this year after a series of what he called "stupid mistakes." So far there have been but only two awards both to Edmonton lieutenants—the first for "misleading a night convoy" and the second "for failing to deliver a run issue."

The order is conspicuously placed on the mantel in the officers' mess at brigade headquarters. The bowler hat is there, too, for all to see and remember.

John Anderson Won Young Birds Championship

Nosed Out M. Tarcon for Honor; Awarded Deliveries Ltd. Cup and Supporting Prize.

In the race for Deliveries Ltd. cup and Yearlings' championship, flown from Lac la Biche, the birds again had a very tough assignment.

Held over until 8:30 a.m. due to smoke from forest fires coupled with fog they were then liberated with visibility still very poor and smoke thick. Rain storms were prevalent in the south.

However, two birds, one owned by J. Anderson and the other by Mike Tarcon, completed the flight in 11 hours, 40 minutes, a half hour faster than the older birds recorded from the same point the previous week.

These were the only birds arriving the same day as liberated, and were clocked in only 27 seconds apart, J. Anderson just nosing out M. Tarcon for the championship, which carried with it the Deliveries Ltd. Cup and a supporting prize of a beautiful silver engraved entree dish also donated by Deliveries Ltd.

The third bird was clocked in by Fred Beddington at 6:57 the next morning.

The winner of this race last year was W. Roughhead.

Result of race: J. Anderson, 2. M. Tarcon, 3. F. Beddington. Prizes donated by Deliveries Ltd., Empire Hotel and a "pigeon fan."

Compulsory pool: J. Anderson.

Nomination pool: J. Anderson, 2. M. Tarcon.

Old birds entered for the Bill Bell Memorial cup and championship of the Coleman club were shipped to Waterways, 505 miles airline, on Monday, June 16, to be liberated on Thursday, June 19, when it is hoped better weather conditions will prevail for this long flight.

As may be seen by the distance it requires a bird to do over 40 miles per hour, for 12 consecutive hours, or less miles per hour for more flying hours, to complete this flight in one day, and proud will be the owner of a bird that accomplishes this feat.

Notice to Creditors and Claimants

WEDDINGS

HUTTON — NASH

St. Paul's United church, Coleman, was the scene of a charming wedding on Saturday, June 14th, at eleven o'clock, when Helen, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Nash, of Coleman, was united in marriage to Mr. Henry Elton Hutton, younger son of Mrs. L. M. Hutton and the late Mr. Francis Hutton of Lethbridge. The church was beautifully decorated with wild and cut flowers and blossoms for the occasion. Rev. J. E. Kirk performed the ceremony. The wedding march was played by Mr. J. Emmerson. The bride, who was given away by her father, was lovely in traditional white with chapel veil and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and carnations. Miss Viola Milley, as bridesmaid, wore a floor length gown of flowered pink taffeta with blue accessories and carried a sheaf of pink gladioli. Mr. Oswald Hutton, brother of the groom, was best man, and Mr. William Lonsbury and Mr. John Price were the ushers. During the signing of the register suitable music was rendered by Mr. Emmerson.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents when covers were laid for thirty. The guests were received by Mrs. Nash, mother of the bride, who wore a becoming dusty rose ensemble with white accessories, and Mrs. Hutton, mother of the groom, who wore a black ensemble with a corsage of white carnations. The bride's table was attractively arranged with lace cloth and centred with a three-tier wedding cake, flanked with pastel candles in crystal holders. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. W. Lonsbury, uncle of the bride, and suitably responded to by the groom. The toast to the King was proposed by Mr. A. Easton, uncle of the bride. Miss K. Milley presided over the tea table and Mrs. V. Colomano and Miss Lorraine Easton, cousin of the bride, assisted in serving the guests.

For travelling the bride chose a queen's blue tailored ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses. The many friends of the young couple gathered at the station to bid them farewell. Telegrams of congratulations were also received from absent friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutton will reside in Calgary where Mr. Hutton is employed by the T. Eaton Co. The out-of-town guests included Mrs. L. Hutton, mother of the groom, and Mr. Oswald Hutton, brother of the groom, of Lethbridge. Also Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blain, sister and brother-in-law of the bride, from Kimberley, B.C., and Miss Viola Milley and LAC Harry Tresson, of Calgary.

PIERZCHALA — RAMSAY

A quiet wedding was solemnized in St. Alban's church on Saturday evening, June 7, when Isabella (Isa), elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ramsay, of Coleman, became the bride of John Pierzchala, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Pierzchala, of Bellevue. Rev. J. R. Hague conducted.

Theatre Notes

Thursday and Friday "The Howards of Virginia" play at The Palace, with Cary Grant and Martha Scott in the starring roles. This is a story of wonderfully exciting romance coupled with the relentless tide of a struggle in United States history so mighty the screen has never seen its equal.

The top flight stars, Spencer Tracy and Hedy Lamarr, come to the screen at the week-end in "I Take This Woman." Tracy plays the role of a surgeon sworn to devote his life to the aid of humanity . . . until he meets Lamarr . . . a tigress in ermine. He was strong but not strong enough to resist.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week Shirley Temple, aided by two rollicking laugh stars, Jack Oakie and Charlotte Greenwood, appears in "Young People." A whole show full of gay, good fun.

At Cole's theatre on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, Henry Fonda stars in "The Return of Frank James." Again the name of James strikes terror over all the west! More spectacular and exciting than the unforgettable "Jesse James." Filmed in technicolor.

COLEMAN HIGH SCHOOL GIVES CONCERT AT AIR FORCE SCHOOL

A number of Coleman high school students under the supervision of Principal David Hoyle and James Cousins motored to No. 7, S.F.T.S., Macleod on Sunday to give a concert to the air force men and their friends. Eight cars were necessary to transport the students.

The program included choir singing, folk dancing, solos both vocal and musical, and a sketch which was brilliantly acted.

The Granum ladies provided the refreshments.

Those motoring the students to Macleod included F. Antrobus, D.

Hoyle, J. Emmerson, S. Short, H. Allen, F. Abousaffy, J. Cousins and Miss Margaret Allan. The men of the air school and visitors from the district were delighted with the program.

Miners' Death Accidental Is Verdict of Jury

Coroner's Jury Adds
Important Recommendation.

The coroner's jury empaneled to inquire into the deaths of Paul Zimka and Giacomo Peressini, while following their employment at the Greenhill mine of the West Canadian Collieries last Thursday night, returned a verdict Monday afternoon of accidental death with no blame attached to anyone.

The jury recommended that all fireboses employed in coal mines in the province of Alberta be brought under the jurisdiction of the department of lands and mines and also recommended that auxiliary booster fans be placed in a more suitable position with respect to fallen and other debris and that each raise between the entry and the counter be driven through before work on the next raise is commenced.

Find Gas

E. Morgan, district mines inspector, stated on the stand that gas had been found in this particular section of the mine, but that it was possible for a place to be practically free of gas prior to a gas bump which it is believed to have occurred at 27 raise, No. 7 level, where the accident took place last Thursday night.

Coroner A. Webster of Coleman presided over the inquest, with the jury composed of R. Pinkney, Blairmore, foreman; W. L. Evans, A. Olivia, R. Penman, D. Roberts and W. Fraser. The department of lands and mines was represented by Mines Inspector E. Morgan, the West Canadian Collieries Ltd.

NEW GASOLINE TAX NOT TOURIST BAR

While the Dominion government has imposed a three cents a gallon gasoline tax, this should not deter U.S. tourist traffic from entering this country.

Officials of the Alberta Motor Association have given some study to the question and feel that while in some cases the new tax may keep a few tourists away, this will not be a general result, by any means.

While provincial and dominion gasoline taxes have the effect of adding 10 cents a gallon to the price of gasoline, the U.S. tourist obtains a premium of 10 per cent on the money he brings into Canada. The result is that his exchange premium more than offsets any additional cost of his fuel.

Thus, Albertans should intensify their efforts to attract more U.S. tourists this year. They should point out that Canada has not imposed border restrictions on tourists because of the war, and that every possible effort is made to make the U.S. tourist welcome to this country.

Another aspect which should be considered, in the opinion of officials of the A.M.A., is that many of these American tourists are anxious to help Canada in winning the war, and realize that they can do so by coming to this country and spending their money here.

Canada needs more buying power in these times, and the tourist trade can help substantially. Let's spare no efforts to get more tourists.

by Harry Blake, and the Miners' Union by Enoch Williams.

Work resumed in all sections of the Greenhill mine Tuesday with the exception of No. 7 level north.

BLOOD INDIANS MAY TAKE PART IN STAMPEDE

Mr. Fred O'Mara informs The Gazette that the Blood Indians are eager to take part in Macleod's Stampede on June 30 and July 1, and arrangements will probably be made for their appearance here. On the recent visit of the Peigan chiefs to Macleod, they were so hospitably treated that it left a good impression which evidently was appreciated not only by the Peigans but also by the Bloods, who heard of the former's reception here. They were treated as citizens of the Empire, and Chief Yellow Horn and his wife were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. O'Mara to dinner. In the evening at the banquet following the Victory Loan parade, all the chiefs were guests of the Board of Trade and were announced with other honored guests of the evening.

Alberta Gets Nothing Under National Housing Act

Figures released by the Federal minister of finance show that under the National Housing Act, whereby loans are made to people to build homes, a total of $66,619,945 has been loaned to people in all provinces of Canada except Alberta. The reason loans are not made to those wishing to build homes in Alberta is that the credit risk is considered so hazardous through legislation of the present provincial government that applications are not entertained. It is a pity when homes are so badly needed in the province, and many would take advantage of the Act if credit were granted.

Mr. Tom Rypien left on Tuesday morning's bus for a visit to Calgary.

Mrs. M. McGrath and daughter were the guests of Mrs. N. McIntyre, of Claresholm, last week.

Calvin Godfrey, of the R.C.A.F. school at High River, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Godfrey.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Richards, accompanied by Mrs. Jack Richards, Mrs. Tom Duncan and Hector McDonald, motored to Lethbridge on Tuesday.

Miss Alma Wilson was a member of the 1941 graduating class at the Calgary Normal school. The graduating exercises were held in Calgary Central school on Friday, June 6. Mr. and Mrs. Steve Penny and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hill motored to Calgary to attend the exercises. At the present time Miss Wilson is receiving practical teaching experience at Burnis school.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. William Kyle, nee Adeline Duffield, on Thursday, June 12, a son.

J. A. Park was a visitor at Calgary last week where he attended the annual sessions of the Grand Lodge of Alberta, A.F. & A.M. Others from the Pass in attendance were W. H. Chappell and F. E. Millett, of Blairmore; Geo. Cruikshank, of Hillcrest.

Messrs. R. C. Old and G. Meffan, of Blairmore, and Max Stigler, of A. Webster, of Coleman, returned Wednesday evening of last week from Edmonton, where they attended the annual convention of the Alberta Elks' Association, at which R. C. Old was elected a vice-president, and A. Webster, Tyler.

Mrs. K. Kilgannon returned home at the week-end after a brief visit to Calgary where she visited her son, Francis, who is stationed at Currie Barracks. Accompanying her on the trip to Calgary was her daughter, Mrs. Mary Wagner, who was enroute to Drumheller, to commence duty as superintendent of Drumheller general hospital.

Soldiers Asked To Co-Operate

The Journal is now sending each week a large number of copies to soldiers in many parts of the Dominion as well as in England. It entails a lot of work. On numerous occasions copies have been forwarded to soldiers who have changed their address, but have failed to inform The Journal. When this happens it is sent sometimes for months to the wrong address and it is only from casual conversation that it is found out that these soldiers have been transferred to another part of the country. This results in Journals being wasted as well as hours of needless effort on the part of the office staff in sending the papers. Since the papers are being sent gratis soldiers are asked to co-operate with The Journal staff in keeping addresses up to date. Those who fail will be cut off the mailing list.

Without Farmer No Country In World Would Be Prosperous

I am a farmer and the provider for all mankind. Upon me every human being constantly depends. A world is built upon by toil, my products and my honesty. Because of my industry Canada, my country, is one of the leading countries of the world and one with the brightest outlook for the future. Her prosperity is maintained by me. My reaper brings food for to-day; my plows hold promise for to-morrow. In war I am absolute; in peace I am indispensable—my country's surest defence and constant reliance.

I am the very soul of Canada. The hope of a race, the balance wheel of civilization. When I prosper men are happy; when I fail, all the world suffers.

In London, the Minister of Home Security has disclosed that unexploded missiles, mostly collected by souvenir hunters, have killed 12 persons and injured six.

At key points all over Britain ambulance and casualty evacuation trains stand ready for constant use. End for end, the trains would extend for seven miles.

The Holy City

Jerusalem Is Now A Teeming Metropolis

Refugees streaming into Jerusalem have made the ancient Holy City a teeming metropolis, where all Allied uniforms can be seen, and there is a babel of tongues, races and colors.

Not since the days of King Solomon has the city been such an important Middle Eastern centre. Successive German penetrations in the Mediterranean have brought royalty, cabinet ministers, diplomats, professors and students to Jerusalem.

For the first time since the crusades, Christians of all sects are united under one flag and in a common cause. But unlike the crusades of 800 years ago, the brotherhood of arms now includes Moslems, Jews and Hindus.

Religious-minded persons see in this the beginning of the fulfillment of Isaiah's ancient prophecy in which the Lord's house was set on the mountain tops and all nations flowed to it.

They believe there also will be fulfillment of that part of the prophecy, which says: "They will beat swords to plowshares, spears to pruning hooks, nation shall not lift sword against nation, and they will not learn war any more."

The mood of Jerusalem is evidenced by the fact there is a shortage of Bibles in the European languages.

The Holy Sepulchre, the focal point of daily life, where appointments are made and kept, where carefully-groomed society women mix with ebony Senegalese, where dramatic meetings take place between brothers and sisters who have not suspected one another's presence in Palestine.

Most refugees are energetically engaged in sight-seeing. One tourist manager, misquoting Moliere, classified them as "tourists despite themselves."

Jerusalem is so overcrowded that monasteries, convents, churches, synagogues and even the Hebrew university on Mount Scopus are converting all space available into sleeping quarters for refugees regardless of their faith.

During the day the population appears to subsist chiefly on ice cream, watermelon, cool native tamarine drinks or bilious-looking lemonade purchased from street-vendors shouting their wares in all languages.

The evenings are spent meandering through the old city, taking in its rare beauty as the muezzins' voices mingle with church bells, sheep bells and the evening prayers in synagogues.

The Helpful Husband

Is Found More Often On Farm Than In City

The St. Catharines Standard says: Girls who want a husband who will help with the dishes should marry a farm boy. As a rule city boys shy away from helping their wives with housework. That was the conclusion drawn from a survey of city and country wives made by the Association of University Women across the line, results of which were announced recently. The same probably applies to the Canadian domestic circle. The survey shows 57 per cent. of rural husbands help their wives with housework, while but 40 per cent. of the city husbands included in the survey were domestic helpmates.

Quite True

The teacher was trying to impress on the children how important had been the discovery of the law of gravitation. "Sir Isaac Newton was sitting on the ground, looking at the tree. An apple fell on his head, and from that he discovered gravitation. Just think, children," she added, "isn't that wonderful?"

The inevitable small boy replied: "Yes'm, an' if he had been sittin' in school lookin' at his books, he wouldn't never have discovered nothin'."

Proud Of Their Deeds

Let Britain sing! Let her people sing, says Basil Dean, in British Songwriter, not so much to keep up their spirits—which are high indeed!—but to give voice to the national pride in the deeds of our young men and women on sea, on land, in the air, in factory and in trench.

Story About Two Dogs Seems To Require Some Telling

"I've got a couple of dogs called Once and Twice," said the dog man. When people say to them, "Come here, doggie!" I say, "You've got to call him Once and the other one Twice."

Of course, I call them both once even if I've called one Twice. Before I called them Once and Twice I called them To and Fro, but I didn't like those names, so I called them what they are now.

See you, I named both of them twice, even if I named only one of them Once.

I don't have to call Twice twice—and—

Pshaw! Work it out for yourself!

RHUBARB CONSERVE

4 lb rhubarb
5 lb sugar
1 lb seeded raisins
2 oranges
1 lemon

Wash and peel stalks of rhubarb and cut in 1-inch pieces. Put in kettle, sprinkle with sugar, add raisins, juice of oranges and lemon, and grated rind of oranges and lemon. Mix, cover and let stand ½ hour. Then bring to boiling point and let simmer 45 minutes, stirring almost constantly. Fill jelly glasses with mixture, cool and seal.

APPLE STRUDEL

Line a buttered pudding dish with corn flakes. Cover with a layer of very thinly sliced cooking apples, sprinkle with light brown sugar, a little cinnamon and dot with pieces of butter. Fill to top with alternate layers, finishing with a layer of corn flakes. Cover dish closely. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) until apples are soft. Serve with cream.

A Very Old Custom

In 1666, the Lord Chief Justice of England met his death by catching goul fever from a prisoner he tried. This mishap resulted in the custom, still maintained, of laying bunches of aromatic herbs before the judges in Old Bailey trials to give them protection.

Seventh largest of the rivers of the world is the Lena, with a length of 2,860 miles.

The pyramids are built of fossilized sandstone formed at the bottom of the sea.

Locomotive Dissolved

Engineers Use Odd Means To Remove Wreck From Channel

Engineers are using electrolysis to disintegrate a locomotive instead of lifting it from the Piscataqua River at Portsmouth, N.H.

The engine plunged into the river last year when a train bridge collapsed. Salvaging would cost too much, but the channel must be cleared of the obstruction.

Divers went down to the river floor and attached cables and plates to the locomotive. The ocean water serves as the electrolyte. It is not known how long it will take to dissolve the 123 tons of metal.

Comment Made About Hitler By Late Ex-Kaiser

The British Broadcasting Corporation told this story about a comment made by the late ex-Kaiser Wilhelm of Hitler:

Last year, at the time of the fall of France, the ex-kaiser was told Hitler had planned the whole operation.

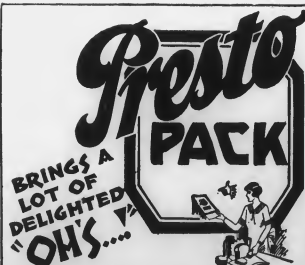

The Kaiser squared his shoulders and said: "It only goes to show how well we trained our corporals in the last war."

Coat Buttons Have Meaning

Chinese commonly wear five buttons on their coat to remind them of the five principal virtues recommended by Confucius—humanity, justice, order, prudence and rectitude.

Blacksmiths are high caste in the Island of Bali. Their prestige derives from the fact that they make the kris, a dagger, which is semi-sacred.

First Army Day In Canadian History To Be Held This Month

Ottawa.—Saturday, June 28, has been set aside as the first "Army Day" in Canadian history and army camps, barracks and training centres throughout the Dominion will be thrown open to the public. Maj.-Gen. B. W. Browne, adjutant-general, said in an address.

The adjutant-general also announced that up to midnight Saturday, June 14, 13,015 men have been enlisted for active service since the current recruiting campaign began May 17.

Another 19,000 were needed in the next month to reach the objective of 32,000 men set by Defence Minister Ralston, Gen. Browne said in his address over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

June 28 has been set aside so that the general public and parents, wives and friends of Canadian army personnel can see for themselves what goes on in military establishments.

"I think you will get a real thrill when you see these men in uniform," Gen. Browne said. "I think you will feel as I do that our country's destiny is in good hands—in strong hands—in steady hands."

Expressing the idea that "if we needed 100,000 men instead of 32,000 we would get our quota a lot sooner," Gen. Browne said 32,000 "is just small enough to make many people say: 'I guess I might as well wait until they come around again—they won't have any trouble getting this lot.'"

"Well, it just isn't the sort of war when any of us can afford to put off until tomorrow the things that need doing to-day, and remember, as long as we are not helping to beat Hitler you're helping him to win."

Gen. Browne had high praise for the men in the army to-day—"an army to be proud of"—and added: "No country ever turned out finer soldiers than the Canadian corps of the last war and I am sure that when the time comes for our army to go into action in this war, the new Canadian corps will be filled with the same spirit which made the old Canadian corps of 1914-18 the spearhead of victory."

Civil Defence Army

London.—Britain has a civil defence army 4,000,000 strong, Herbert Morrison, home secretary, revealed in parliament. The minister added that the ranks of fire-bomb fighters were increased recently by 2,500,000 men and women.

Relieved Of Duties

Moscow.—B. L. Vannikov, commissar for armaments in the government, has been relieved of his duties "for failure to cope with the duties of a commissar," and Dmitri Ustinov has been appointed in his place.

Britain Aids Egypt

Cairo.—The Egyptian government announced in the chamber of deputies that the British government has given Egypt £1,000,000 (about $4,400,000) to assist Egyptian air raid precaution work.

Plans For Next Nazi Major Move Against Britain In The East

London.—Speculation runs riot over the reported Nazi troop concentrations from the Baltic to the Black Sea near Russian borders, but it seems improbable that a German-Soviet clash is impending.

Obviously German troops are being redistributed in the Balkans and probably in Poland and elsewhere along the eastern frontiers of the German reich. It is also altogether probable that these shifts correspond to Berlin's plans for the next major Nazi move against Britain in the east, whether it be via North Africa, Cyprus, Syria or Turkey.

Whatever may be the fact as to Moscow-Berlin relations at the moment, however, it does not seem probable that Hitler contemplates more than force-politics pressure on Russia at this stage.

His logical strategy would be to bring from her further economic aid such as food and oil, or possibly to immobilize her while he puts the heat on Turkey to "collaborate" with the Axis against Britain.

Turkish-Russian relations have been very close. There have been

Nazi Ship Torpedoed

German Pocket Battleship Is Seriously Crippled In Aerial Action London.—The air ministry announced that one of Germany's dwindling supply of heavily-gunned but lightly-armored pocket battleships was torpedoed off the southern coast of Norway in an aerial action in which a Canadian navigator took part. The vessel was believed badly damaged.

"They must have been taken completely by surprise," declared one of the attacking pilots.

Just 18 days after flyers closed in with British surface vessels to sink the battleship Bismarck, 35,000-ton pride of the Nazi navy, coastal command aircraft struck the fresh blow.

A long-range, twin-engine Beaufort swept low around the stern of one of five screening Nazi destroyers to ram home the explosive amidships as the Germans headed northward—apparently raiding bent. Another torpedo quickly followed.

"Dense clouds of white smoke rose from the vessel," the air ministry said, reporting the smoke was so thick that the crews of succeeding planes in the assault were unable to observe the results of their own work accurately.

"Soon after 10 o'clock the battleship was stationary some miles off Mandal, on the most southern point of Norway, and later the whole force was observed to be retiring towards the Skagerrak at greatly reduced speed."

Informed sources said severe damage was indicated by that reduced speed, a gait of 10 miles an hour or less.

Taking Heavy Toll

Many Canadians In Britain Injured In Motorcycle Crashes Ottawa.—Motorcycle accidents are taking a heavy toll of Canadian troops in Britain, according to a Canuck invalided out of the army after months overseas.

Many of the men who came back with him, he said, were forced out of uniform by injuries they suffered while dashing around on those vehicles. Main reasons for their crashes, he said, are the narrow English roads and the blackouts which make night manoeuvres difficult.

Canadian Women Interned In France Are Being Released

Ottawa.—All Canadian women interned in France are being released, said a statement issued by the external affairs department. A recent list showed they numbered 59.

Representations had been made by the Canadian government through the U.S. government, stating that German women had not been interned in Canada merely on the ground of their nationality.

Build Pipe Line

U.S. Government Plans To Meet East Coast Shortage

New York.—Plans for the greatest pipeline construction in history were disclosed by authoritative oil men as the United States government's answer to the threat of an east coast petroleum shortage this coming winter.

Work already has begun on portions of about 4,450 miles of pipelines which, they said, Interior Secretary Harold Ickes, industry co-ordinator, has under consideration.

The lines would carry a steady flow of oil and gasoline to the east coast from Texas, Louisiana and Illinois in quantity to offset by at least 150 per cent. loss of transportation facilities caused by the transfer of 50 tankers to British use.

They can be completed, it was said, in less than six months, provided steel for the pipes is supplied on a defence priority basis and the government grants rights of way.

Work to begin at once on a 250-mile line which, running from Portland, Me., to the Imperial Oil Company refineries at Montreal, will remove the need for 2,000 miles of crude oil transportation by ocean tankers around the tip of the United States and Canada by way of the St. Lawrence river.

This pipe is expected to be finished by Jan. 1. It is a 12-inch pipe, with a maximum capacity of 50,000 gallons of crude oil a day.

The government plan, it was understood, envisions not only construction of the new lines but also reversal of the direction of some eastern lines, utilization of a great number of new river barges for oil shipments, and more efficient operation of some pipelines long in service.

Concerning the latter feature, the Oil and Gas Journal recently estimated 50,000 barrels additional could be added daily to trunk line capacity by using idle lines between the Mississippi river and the Atlantic.

"Despite these plans, however, it was admitted there might be a squeeze in the east's gasoline supply before freezing weather arrives again. Ickes recently warned that rationing of some type this summer is a possibility."

To Speed Up Work

Britain Puts All Building Industries Under Workers Order

London.—Moving to speed up vital war work, the government placed building and civil engineering industries under an essential workers order. This means that workers' right to quit and employers' right to fire in these industries will be under government control, as in the munitions industries.

"It is well known," said Labor Minister Ernest Bevin, "that full productivity of the war effort is dependent to a large extent on expediting certain buildings and civil engineering works in this country. We must speed up effort on air fields and on war office and admiralty construction. There is no time to argue with anybody."

The order guarantees a six-day work week.

Increase Tank Production

Ottawa.—Production of tanks at the Angus shops at Montreal is progressing favorably. Munitions Minister Howe said in the House of Commons. He said the objective of assembly line production at the rate of three a day will be achieved shortly.

LEARNING THE ROPES

The fundamentals of baseball are explained to the Princess Royal by Lieutenant-General A. G. McNaughton, commander-in-chief of the Canadian overseas forces. The princess, in her uniform as chief controller of the Auxiliary Territorial service, visited Canadian headquarters and inspected one of the signalling units.

Fast Planes

Send More Than A Thousand Tomahawk Fighters To Britain

Buffalo, N.Y.—The Curtis-Wright company announced it had sent more than 1,000 fast Tomahawk fighters to Britain and demonstrated a faster, spike-nosed pursuit plane whose performance and armament were kept secret.

The Bell Aircraft corporation which makes the P-32 Airacobra said it had sent 15 of these cannon-carrying fighters to Britain but that none had yet seen action. Curtis expects production capacity of 69 pursuit planes a day and Bell, six a day.

The new Curtis P-46, more pointed and streamlined than the P-40 Tomahawk, was flown before returned war correspondents who went through the Curtis and Bell plants. Correspondents noted that most of the planes being finished in the two plants bore the Royal Air Force insignia or had special British fittings.

Battle Of Atlantic

Stronger Convoy Protection Is Improving The Situation

Ottawa.—The battle of the North Atlantic has been going "rather better" for Britain lately, in the opinion of Rt. Hon. Ronald Cross, new British high commissioner to Australia, who is in Canada on the way to that country to take up his appointment.

The former minister of economic warfare and more recent minister of shipping cited "better air support and stronger convoy protection" as reasons for the apparent turn in the fortunes of war on the northern sea. He emphasized, though, he was not in close touch with the immediate situation.

Will Take Command Of Trans-Atlantic Plane Ferrying Service

To Retain Jobs

Legislation Designed To Protect Men Who Enlist For Active Service

Ottawa.—Legislation is being prepared to ensure so far as possible that men who give up positions to enlist for active service, will be sure of their jobs when they come back. Labor Minister McLarty told the House of Commons.

The legislation will be introduced when parliament reconvenes after the summer adjournment.

Mr. McLarty said it was felt those who go overseas should have as much security as possible in their peace-time occupations.

The bill provides that employers will, so far as possible, reinstate men who leave them for active service in positions no less favorable than they might have attained had they not enlisted.

The legislation will be modelled generally after a British measure designed to attain the same objective, Mr. McLarty said.

Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East) asked if the government would make the principle of the proposed legislation effective in the meantime.

The minister said the bill had not yet received final consideration of council, but he was confident it would not be restricted in its application to those who enlist after the measure becomes law.

The minister said a draft of the bill had been submitted to the labor advisory committee and other representative labor bodies, and to the general committee on demobilization and rehabilitation of the pensions department.

Sets Air Record

Bomber Flies From Britain To Canada In 13½ Hours

Montreal.—A bombing plane has set a new east-west trans-Atlantic record of 13½ hours from England to Canada, it was revealed by officials of Atero, a division of the British ministry of aircraft production.

The plane, bringing trans-Atlantic pilots back to Canada to ferry other bombers across to England, landed at an eastern airport 13½ hours after taking off from an undisclosed spot in England.

Refugees In Cairo

Cairo.—Refugees are streaming by rail and highway into Cairo from the Axis-raided British base at Alexandria. Reports say that there are long lines of cars on the roads between the Egyptian cities. At Cairo, Premier Hussein Sirry Pasha has listed at least 331 persons killed and hundreds wounded in recent Axis raids.

Britain Will Continue To Struggle Against The Axis Oppression

London.—Britain, her Dominions and her Allies adopted a resolution affirming their determination to continue "the struggle against German or Italian oppression until victory is won" and pledging mutual assistance to each other "in this struggle to the utmost of their respective capacities."

This action was taken in the first formal convocation of representatives of the British Empire and of all the governments with which it is allied. The resolution declared:

"There can be no settled peace and prosperity so long as free peoples are coerced by violence into submission to domination by Germany or her associates or live under the threat or such coercion."

"The only true basis of an enduring peace is willing co-operation of the free peoples in a world in which, relieved of the menace of aggression, all may enjoy economic and social security."

"It is their (the Allies') intention to work together and with other free peoples both in war and peace to this end."

The high commissioners of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa represented the four dominions.

Prime Minister Churchill, addressing the meeting declared "nothing is more certain" than that every London.—The air ministry announced the appointment of Air Chief Marshal Sir Frederick Bowhill to command a new organization which will take delivery of warplanes from a "recently formed flight ferry command of the United States army air corps" and fly them to British bases. Sir Frederick will be succeeded as commander in chief of the Royal Air Force coastal command by Air Marshal Sir Philip Joubert de la Ferté.

Informed sources said Sir Frederick will soon leave for Canada to organize the new command which will bring the trans-Atlantic plane ferrying task, hitherto a function of the ministry of aircraft production, under supervision of the air ministry. While in Canada he will confer with Dominion air officials.

The air marshal has won recognition for his success in developing the coastal command which he has headed since 1936. He is 61, and began his service career in his youth as a naval reserve midshipman. Later, becoming flying officer, his commands in the first Great War included the air wing with military forces in East Africa and wing in the Mediterranean theatre.

His successor in the coastal command, who is 54, was a Royal Air Force commander in India at the outbreak of this war. He was soon recalled to England as an advisor and later became assistant chief of the air staff.

Despite the appointment of an R.A.F. officer as commander of the trans-ocean ferry service, informed British sources said there was no indication that the organization would be made a military unit since that might mean the loss of the services of the veteran United States civilian pilots whose experience in the work has proved of great value to Britain.

The air ministry declined to elaborate details of the new command and said that "plans are still in their infancy but are being pressed forward."

Diplomatic Service

Now Open To Deserving Candidates Without Private Income

London.—Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons the diplomatic service will be opened to deserving candidates without sources of private income.

The change, it was said, will open high posts to men of all classifications in diplomatic and consular branches. In the past, a monopoly on choice diplomatic posts has been held by public school men of private means.

Mr. Eden said women too will be eligible for promotion to the most responsible positions under the new regulations making "financial reforms."

"stain of his (Hitler's) infected and corroding fingers will be sponged and purged and, if need be, blasted from the surface of the earth."

The prime minister thanked the Allied leaders on the King's behalf for "the tremendous moral blow" they had "struck for the common cause."

"It is here on this island fortress that he will have to reckon in the end," Mr. Churchill declared of Hitler. "We shall strive to resist by land and sea. We shall be on the track wherever he goes."

He said Hitler would find "no peace, no rest, no halting place, no parity."

Ending on a solemn note, he told the gathering sprinkled with the uniforms of the Allied armies and navies, that "if driven to desperate hazards, he will attempt an invasion of the British Isles, as well he may. We should not flinch from the supreme trial. With the help of God, of whom we must all feel daily conscious, we shall continue steadfast in faith and duty till our task is done."

The resolution of the conference was adopted by the governments of the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Poland and Yugoslavia and by representatives of the Free French movement.
